About the Cover:

Jonny Manning: Helping lead the Midview Middies to their first SWC Title since 2016, Manning led the Middies averaging 17.6 points per contest, 11.5 rebounds, 3.1 assists, and 2.5 blocks in what was a fantastic senior season. Midview coach Jim Brabenec calls him a "coach's dream" due to his ability both as a player and a leader. Manning sits third on the all-time scoring list at Midview with 1,097 career points. He is also the school's second leading rebounder all-time with 746.

Ally Winnen: After a fantastic career with the Elyria Catholic Panthers, Ally took her talents to University Center, Michigan, where she now plays for Saginaw Valley State University. Her senior season, she averaged 17.4 points a night on top of 11.5 rebounds. She also became the 5th 1,000-point scorer in school history. Her efforts, in addition to winning Lorain County Miss Basketball, earned her second-team All-Ohio honors.

Jake Evans: Getting ready for his senior campaign, Jake Evans of Elyria earned himself the honor All-Chronicle Wrestler of the Year last season. Evans was 41-2 last season and a favorite to compete for the 182-pound title before COVID-19 shut down the state meet. He is committed to further his wrestling and academic career at the Division 1 level at the University of Indiana.

As COVID-19 put an end to the 2019-2020 OHSA Boys Basketball Playoffs, the 2020-2021 season looks to begin anew. As is typical with the Lorain County hoops scene, this season promises to be a fun, albeit different, one.

With a big senior class, the Lorain Titans are hoping for a dominant year in the Lake Erie League. Senior Seth Wilson, who recently signed his letter of intent to play collegiately at West Virginia, is hoping to have a monster year. Devante Jackson is also looking to capitalize off a fantastic junior year campaign. Head coach John Rositano will be entering his eighth season at the helm of the Titans hoops program.

Entering his third season with Elyria Catholic, head coach Rob Palmer has his work cut out for him this season. After graduating 12 seniors last year, there are no returning starters on the roster.

The lone senior this season, Jaret Frantz, will look to build on an impressive 42% clip from 3-point territory in 2019-2020. Jack Kenneally, who averaged 16 points and 5 rebounds in his sophomore season, provides a diverse skill set for the Panthers. Robert Palmer and Denny Fischer, a pair of 16-points-per-game scorers who split time between Varsity and JV last season, will also be back with the Panthers.

Starting with the Elyria Pioneers, head coach Brett Larrick will be looking to improve on a record of just 6-19 a year ago. Guard play will once again be at the forefront of the Pioneer conversation, led by senior guard and four-year starter MarSaun Robinson. He played more than any other Pioneer last season and averaged 12 points per contest. Fellow seniors Dez Shelton and Daylon Sharlow will help lead this year's squad.

Moving to the Lorain County League, last season ended with a three-way tie for first. Oberlin is one of those teams and look to be a threat in the LC8 once again. After losing four seniors from last year, senior guard Trajen Chambers and junior guard Andre Yarber Jr. will lead the way for the Phoenix. Head coach Kurt Russell notes that chemistry and quickness will be what this year's bunch relies on most.

The Keystone Wildcats are another one of three teams coming in sharing the title of defending league champs. Head coach Jeff Holzhauer highlights unselfishness and great team character as the strengths of his team this season. Senior Sean Saterlee returns to the starting lineup, while Sophomore Ryan Walsh continues to develop following an impressive freshman season. Senior Alex Pataky will also be on the roster this year after not playing his junior season.

Columbia also claimed a portion of the league title last year and have high hopes again this season. The three-headed monster of seniors Brandon Fisher, George Wilson, and Caleb Borling will return to the starting lineup. Senior Trevor Hottell also returns for his final go-round with the Raiders. Head coach Larry Babics loves the depth of this year's team along with the floor spacing they have thanks to their perimeter shooting.

Coming off a strong season are the Firelands Falcons and head coach Alan Januzzi. Senior Mitchell Hodges, who poured in over 12 points per night last season, returns with fellow seniors Alex Angle, Casey Kelley, Caden Bomback, Evan Zidar and Jackson Talbott. Talbott was another double-digit scorer last season, averaging just over 10 points per night. Coach Januzzie notes senior leadership will be a key strength for his team this season.

Brookside Cardinal head coach Cory Emerine will continue to try and build a winning culture with the Cardinals basketball program in his second season at the helm. Seniors Gabe Pawloski and Jake Barnhart will return to the starting lineup this season. Coach Emerine also expects big things from sophomore Avery Young, who Emerine says was really in a groove last year before suffering a broken leg. Seniors Aaiden Sanders and Elijah Sheffield will also look to help land a winning season for Brookside.

Clearview head coach Jason Christensen wants to see growth from his team this season. Despite seven seniors on the roster, just one has varsity experience. That would be Samuel Clark, who averaged over 10 points a night last season. B'ohn Smith-Belcher, a transfer from Lorain, will also look to have an impact this season. Even with inexperience, Coach Christensen thinks this Clippers team can rely on athleticism and their ability to defend to remain competitive.

After losing their three top scorers and every starter from a year ago, the Wellington Dukes will need guys to step up. Seniors Cole Standen, Wyatt Sasack, and Caleb Teague all find themselves in more prominent roles this season. Every day improvement is a focus for head coach Dan Gundert, who wants to push the pace this season to make opponents uncomfortable.

In the SWC, the Midview Middies enter this season as reigning league champs. Senior Nic Vydal returns after breaking a school record last season with 70 3-pointers made. Senior Tyler Dawson is also back, who head coach Jim Brabenec notes is a very efficient and high IQ player. With the loss of Johnny Manning, Coach Brabenec wants rebounding and effort to be at the forefront of this year's focus for the Middies.

The Avon Eagles will have a new leader this year in the form of head coach Mike Fitch. Seniors Dominic Rini and Niko Pappas were both double-digit scorers last season and return alongside senior Mike Matlak. With 8 total seniors on the roster, Coach Fitch inherits an experienced bunch with tremendous guard play that should keep them competitive in the SWC.

For Avon Lake, it's another season of big expectations within the SWC. Seniors Gage Duesler, Nate Murtaugh, and Michael Stuewe will lead the Shoremen this year. Head coach Eric Smith hopes that experience, combined length and athleticism, will be the strong points of this year's Shoremen bunch.

Amherst head coach Pat Bray loves the depth and experience of this year's Comets team. Senior Ty Weatherspoon, who averaged over 11 points per season last year, and junior George Fayer will return to the starting lineup. Weatherspoon is joined by fellow seniors Jalin Dampier, Dylan Simulcik, and Jordan Sweeney. Junior Austin Bray will be inserted into the starting rotation as well after impressive minutes off the bench last year. Coach Bray also claims George Gostis should be the most athletic kid in the gym every game.

Looking for a strong bounce back season will be the North Ridgeville Rangers. Coach Bryan Morgan notes about 9 solid varsity players this time around, a huge improvement from last season. Coach Morgan expects top-tier guard play from his team, led by senior Nate Theus who averaged 14 points per night just one year ago. Seniors Bryce Nuemann and Caden Masterson will also look to close out their Rangers career on a high note this season.

After a tough season in the SBC, Vermilion head coach Kurt Habermehl will be looking for all-around improvement this year. Returning 11 letter winners from last year, this year's Sailors bunch will rely on a combination of size and athleticism. Seniors Matt Saegert and Zach Jones return and will be instrumental to this team's success alongside fellow senior Ethan Young.

Last season ended in bizarre fashion as Elyria Catholic, who just won the regional, was denied their chance to play in the final four in Columbus by the COVID 19 pandemic. EC was to play Highland in the state semis when the season was canceled. This year Coach Rothgery will try and fill the void of eight graduating seniors from that 26-1 team. The cupboard isn't bare, Annika Bredel a Junior (10.3 ppg and 6 rpg) is back, as well as senior Emily Rapacz (6.5 ppg and 5 rpg), along with Lexi Hall a Senior (6 ppg). Rothgery expects to be pretty good.

Across town at Elyria High, Coach Tony Brown is excited to have several returners including Taylor Mehl, Jaidah Gonzalez, point guard Dana Ewing, Cora Sanders, Alaysia Ward and several newcomers including Elizabeth Aulisio.

Over at Lorain, Mark Feldmann's team had an outstanding 19-5 record a year ago. The strength this year according to Feldmann is team quickness. Top returners include Brooklyn Ferguson, Ashley Hisle, Mikiya Hermon, Tanisha Llanos, Kiara Jenkins, Dalasha Prushinsky and Jerzey Beard.

At Vermilion, Coach Jason Sockel is back, the Sailors went 4-19 in Sockel's first campaign. Top returners include leading scorer Marianna Plas, Hallie Habermehl, Camryn Colahan, Molly Plas and Audrey Peterson. With one senior on the roster, Sockel is counting on a strong junior class and a few sophomores to carry the team. If they stay healthy, Sockel feels they can compete.

Let's move to the SWC, Jessy Bendik is back for her second year at Midview. They went 8-16 last year, returners include seniors Isabella Patarini, Autumn Vance and sophomore Mya DiFranco. Bendik expects this team to compete and prove they can compete with the top teams in the conference.

At Amherst, what an exciting tournament run Jay Valadez and his team had. 12-11 overall lost the district title game to Westlake. This year they will play hard on the defensive end. Valadez is building a defense first mindset and culture. They are YOUNG, no starters return, and two sophomores with some experience are Jules Gedling and Joclyn George. Several freshmen will be asked to contribute.

At Avon, Meghan Larrick's Eagles went 16-7 last year. Top returners include junior Abby Liber she was the leading scorer and rebounder a year ago. Senior Alyssa Peganoff returning starter attacks the basket and is an aggressive guard with good size. Senior Catie Geiger is a top defender they need her leadership and experience. Senior Grace Santee returns at post she has a pivotal role in the offense. Larrick has several others being counted on, with so many returners expectations are high. They could be a top contender, according to Larrick, if they play relentless and selfless basketball.

At Avon Lake Dave Zvara's squad went 17-6 he returns three senior starters Emma Knick, Cory Kroner and Emily Yarham. Several other seniors are on the roster, strengths are experience, senior leadership and confidence. Zvara feels they need to play defense to be competitive in the league.

Heading south on Rt. 83 North Ridgeville went 12-13 last year, Amy Esser's team returns two starters Daylan Baker a Junior point guard and Mady Rosado a Senior Esser is looking for contributions from Kat Crevda, Becca Bradley, Brynnley Kerr and Bella Ramsey. NR will be a quick defensive minded team. Moving to the LC8 at Brookside, the Cards went 7-17 last year, highlighted with a tournament win over Wickliffe. It was their first tourney victory since 1996. Coach Brad Barhorst returns five who started at least five games a year ago. Sarah Torres, Shyanne Shinsky, Savannah Walls, Madison Adams and Heaven Van Zant.

At Wellington Nathan Morris is back for year six. The Dukes were 15-7 last year with four letter winners back, seniors Jill Laposky, Ally Zvara, and Juniors Karlie Frenk and Amanda Spiekerman. Players to watch include senior Payton Regal and Junior Toni Parramore. Speed and depth are team strengths.

At Keystone Rocky Houston's first team went 8-14. Top returners are Kennedy Kerr and Delaney Peters, she led the county with 56 made three-point field goals. Key newcomers include Rocky's daughter Helayna Houston, classmate Jess Forthofer and Sidney Iler, a First Baptist transfer. Houston wants his team to play hard and compete every night.

Nick Dimacchia is back for year thirteen at Clearview, they are coming off a 13-10 season. Six letter winners are Brook Rebman, Arriana Noble, Olivia Romes, Kamia Pilsen, Madison Pennington and Niyanna Flowers. Strengths are guard play, speed and defense.

Columbia went 11-12 last year Corey Taylor is in year three as head coach. Two senior key returners being counted on are Allyson Ross (19.6 ppg, 7.1 rpg and 4.3 assists) and Averey Lavinder (5.7 ppg and 3.6 rpg). Ross is a Winthrop University commit. The Raiders look to be competitive in the LC8.

At Firelands veteran coach Dave Kudela returns along with several players. Junior Abbey Schmitz (14 ppg, 5 rpg) and Senior Megan Sutton (11 ppg and 5 rpg), along with classmates Madison Sutton (8 ppg and 4 rpg) and Isabella Simmons.

The Falcons went 20-4 a year ago and 14-0 in the LC8 to win the conference championship. They look to repeat as champs.

Tiffany Shields' Oberlin Phoenix squad looks to improve on a two-win season a year ago. Top returners are Casey Amato and Mar'khia Holloway, both seniors. The Phoenix are also looking to junior Elizabeth Conesco and sophomore Sanayah Wilborn. Coach Shields wants overall improvement and competitiveness along with getting better each day.

High School Wrestling Preview

*Due to COVID-19, scheduled games reflected in this magazine may already be changed or are subject to change. Please check WEOL.com for the most up-to-date schedule.

Seventeen wrestlers from Lorain County felt unsatisfied at the conclusion of the 2019-20 season and it had nothing to do with failing to win a state championship.

The coronavirus pandemic brought the high school wrestling season to a halt before any of them could step on the mats in Columbus. The Ohio High School Athletic Association postponed the event just hours before competition was scheduled to begin and a few weeks later canceled the winter post-season.

Now nine of those wrestlers are back and hungrier than ever to earn another trip south and make up for the lost opportunity.

Five of those state qualifiers will be in Elyria's starting lineup as the Pioneers look to continue their dominating ways this season. Elyria has not only turned itself into the premier wrestling program in the county, the Pioneers have become a national powerhouse, finishing ranked No. 10 in the nation last season, it's fifth straight year of holding a spot in the national rankings.

The Pioneers, who finished as the Division I dual team state runner-up last season, lost a pair of elite wrestlers in Division I 2019 state champion Mick Burnett and three-time state placer Dylan Shawver. The two are now flexing their skills on the next level, Burnett wrestling for Pitt while Shawver is at Rutgers.

The five Elyria wrestlers who will be looking to return to the state tournament – all won sectional championships last season at Midview -- are Colin Noel (qualified at 106 pounds last year), Peyton Fenton (113) – the 2019 Division I state champion at 106 pounds -- Nate Burnett (132), Enrique Munguia (152) and Jake Evans (182).

The quintet traveled to Myrtle Beach, S.C., last month to compete in the Super 32 Challenge, where Munguia finished third – the program's top finish behind two-time finalist Steve Mitcheff. Also competing in the event were Connor Burrus – a senior transfer from Hubbard and a Division II three-time district qualifier – and sophomore Riley Banyas, the 2020 girls state runner-up at 101 pounds.

Evans and Munguia, who finished as the Division I state runner-up at 152 pounds in 2019, also recently competed in national duals events – Evans at the Elite 8 event in Atlanta, and Munguia at the NHSCA National Duals in Ocean City, Md. Evans' team advanced to the final before losing a tough match while Munguia went 6-0 while his team won the national championship.

Helping bolster the Elyria lineup will be state alternate JoJo Norwood (170), sectional champions Izzak Pedraza (145) and Brandy Crawford (160) and district qualifiers Gage Steffe (220) and Alexander Lowery (285), and incoming freshmen Luke Tucholski and Connor Holm, a two-time OAC state qualifier and the 2020 OAC Junior High divisional champion.

The Pioneers will not have the opportunity to reach the Dual Teams state tournament for the seventh straight season as the event has already been canceled this season, as have several premier events Elyria competes in including the Ironman at Walsh Jesuit and the Beast of the East at the University of Delaware.

Many wrestling tournaments across Ohio have followed suit in canceling or limiting team entries due to pandemic concerns.

Another Division I program that will welcome back state qualifiers is Avon, which will be led by seniors Cael Saxton (who qualified at 113 last season) and Mason Bingham (285). Both were part of successful Eagles fall programs – Saxton played for the Southwestern Conference championship soccer team while Bingham is a two-way lineman for the football team, which advanced to its fourth straight Division II state tournament.

The Eagles have another top performer in Ty Daugherty, who was a state alternate at 106 last season and recently competed in the Battle in the Burgh in Oaks, Pa., and the Preseason Nationals in Des Moines, Iowa.

Joining the trio on the roster are district qualifiers Mason Fitch (120), Ethan Sear (126), Preston Yates (145) and Joe Roesch (170); district alternates Joe Mrosko (132) and Josh Sublett (182); and sectional placers Kyle Keffer (138) and Angel Bauzo (152).

The other two returning state qualifiers are Nick Hickman (who qualified at 182 in Division II) from Keystone and Jeremiah McKee (126 in Division III) from Wellington.

The Wildcats will put a strong lineup around Hickman, including district placer Ryan Healy (145); district qualifier and sectional champion Jose Moralez (170); district qualifiers Kevin Tilley (126) and Cody Greene (152); district alternate Nick Beriswill (138); and sectional placers Devon Mayer (113) and Diego Moralez (132).

Keystone went unbeaten in Lorain County League dual meets last season before being edged by Firelands during the league tournament.

The Dukes have a quartet of strong returnees joining McKee, including district qualifiers Trayton Bowman (113) and Derrick Andolsek (138); and district alternates Wayde Bowman (120) and Cayden Conrad (152).

Lorain will battle in the Lake Erie League and be led by district placer Santino Humphrey, who finished a match away from qualifying for the Division I state tournament last season. The Titans will also be helped by district alternate Jordan Cancel (120) and sectional placers Xzander Natal (106) and Santana Sanchez (285).

The other four Division I programs in the county are SWC rivals of Avon and all return several strong wrestlers.

Amherst leads the way with six district qualifiers – Eli Mendez (120), Noah Mendez (132), Rich Tennant (152), Bishop Fryson (160), Nick Jackson (182) and Lavell Gibson (220), who also captured a sectional championship at Midview – and district alternate Zach Machesky (138).

Avon Lake, which will host the modified eight-team season-opening Cobos Insurance Classic, has a pair of returning district qualifiers in Nathan Perry (106) and Hunter McHugh (220), a district alternate in Michael Valerino (113) and sectional placer Lucas Marconi (170).

Midview has a trio of district qualifiers – Tyler Dye (113), Colton Bell (126) and Tyler Smith (182) – a district alternate in Nick Skolnicki (220) and a sectional player in Avery Snyder (132) in its lineup this season.

North Ridgeville has four district qualifiers – Zach Orseno (106), Tyler Fair (145), Chris Douglas (182) and Tyler Duff (195) – back and a sectional placer in Shane Adams (160). Duff (runner-up), Orseno (third), Jared Counts (third) and Nate Bober (fourth) recently placed at the preseason Canfield Open, while Orseno won a title and Counts and Bober finished third at the Akron Fall Open.

In Division II, Firelands will be led by district placer Ruben Pina-Lorenzana (106) as it tries to defend the inaugural LCL title. Joining Pina-Lorenzana in a strong lineup will be district qualifiers Corey Newark (138), Mason Stanley (170) and Ethan Tester (182); district alternate Donald Crawford (152); and sectional placer Connor Rogers (160).

Joining the Falcons in the LCL field will be Brookside and Clearview.

The Cardinals have a quartet of returning district qualifiers – Eric Saddler (113), Daniel Davis (145), Karson Nail (160) and Collin Thompson (220) – and a pair of sectional placers in Collin Houpt (170) and Emilio Smith (195).

The Clippers will be led by district qualifier David Fitzpatrick (170) and sectional placers

Oscar Rivera (106) and Cameron Carreras (285).

Vermilion will compete in a tough Sandusky Bay Conference and in the Northwest sectional and district tournaments.

The Sailors have a solid returning core in district qualifiers Owen Kyser (132), Malachi Howell (138), Owen Grear (160) and Chris Bennett (182); and district alternates Kreston Shaw (113), Drake Shaw (220) and Aiden Miller (145).

In Division III, Columbia returns a strong group led by district placer and sectional champion Cole Schulke (106), who narrowly missed earning a state tournament berth last season. The Raiders also have four returning district qualifiers in Josh Hickman (120), Jacob Wasko (126), Garrett Szuch (160) and Elijah Caraballo (285); and district alternate Chris Davis (132).

Rounding out the Division III teams in the county are Black River and Oberlin.

The Pirates have four returning district qualifiers in Hunter Yeaples (138), Brandon Rollin (145), Charlie Wells (170) and Travis Owen (285), who also captured a sectional title, and sectional placer Jacob Collins (195).

The Phoenix will be led by returning district alternate Matthias Fritz (195).
